

a helping hand

America's schools, students and teachers deserve every resource we can offer them. That's why Verizon has invested $33 million in education initiatives — including Thinkfinity, an interactive educational platform that helps teachers teach and students learn.

Thinkfinity.org is an award-winning educational website with tens of thousands of free, engaging materials for teachers and students. This comprehensive resource includes K-12 lesson plans, in-class activities and videos, all searchable by grade level, keyword or subject, and aligned to state standards. Teachers trust Thinkfinity because the content is provided by the most acclaimed names in education. Thinkfinity.org provides online and in-person professional development opportunities to help teachers make the most of the free resources available. And it also includes the Thinkfinity Community (www.thinkfinity.org/community), an online spot for teachers, administrators and parents to discuss education issues, ask questions and collaborate with colleagues across the hall or across the country.
